

Streamlined Project Time & Cost Management

Within any organization, managing information between multiple teams and projects can be daunting, especially when you need to quickly reconcile data to ensure your business moves forward. Introducing Aura, the project time and cost management platform that connects the dots by centralizing your workflow, allowing critical information to flow seamlessly within your organization.

Aura puts the right information into the right hands at the right time, integrating key processes across your business. It allows you to achieve greater control and accountability over the job management process and gain visibility across the board. With a single entry point for all departments, Aura accommodates multiple workflows and delivers real-time information across your entire organization.

There's no conversion required with Aura – the platform utilizes your existing configurations, meaning setup is simple. An extendable, flexible technology base means it's easy to add features as the platform evolves. What's more, Aura is browser agnostic and available on mobile, giving you more flexibility on where you work and how you work.

FEATURES

TIME

- Allows users to input, view, and route their timesheets for approval electronically. Easy to use, simple, and convenient, this platform enables users to jump in immediately – with little to no training.

- For managers, Aura Time provides a quick search to see how employees are spending their time and approve timesheets easily. Missing time is also viewable and alerts are available for overdue timesheets.

JOBS

- Manage the job creation process with Aura Jobs with the ability to create jobs, obtain approvals, and view project financial information with all your data consolidated in one place.
